

Autoclavable Breather Bag

Product Introduction

Autoclavable breather bag for pharmaceutical packaging application is designed and developed to meet the strict sterilization requirements of key components, which has excellent performance in terms of surface cleanliness, material heat sealing strength and microbial barrier properties, etc.

Autoclavable breather bag is made of pharmaceutical grade Tyvek material and HDPE film heat-sealed. It is suitable for a variety of sterilization methods, such as steam sterilization, ethylene oxide sterilization, VHP sterilization, etc.

Autoclavable breather bag can protect equipment and tools ideally after sterilization and reduce the contamination risk during the transferring.

Application

Suitable for sterilization packaging of the following materials:

- RTS rubber stopper, flip off seal
- Glass vial, container, cleanroom garment
- Stainless steel appliances and process equipment
- Medical device components

Autoclavable Breather Bag

Features

- Apply to ISO clean environment class 5, and controlling pyrogenic and particulate contamination to the levels required by regulations.
- Excellent permeability for vapor and air.
- With extremely low particle, bioburden and endotoxin level and extremely high microbial barrier properties.
- Good regulatory compliance, as well as good performance in reducing the contamination risk.
